

WHO HAS ACCESS TO COVID-19 EMERGENCY LEAVE BENEFITS?

UPDATED: April 30, 2020*

No matter where we are from or what we look like, all of us work hard for our families and deserve a job where we are treated with dignity and respect. The COVID-19 pandemic exposed cracks in our country's social safety net systems, underlining the reality that, even before this pandemic began, many working people are forced to choose between their paycheck and their health. One crucial way we can rebuild an economy where all working families can thrive is to ensure everyone has access to paid sick days and paid family leave, during this crisis and beyond.

As COVID-19 hit our communities, policymakers came together to take action to address the far-reaching health and economic consequences of this crisis for working people and families by passing emergency paid sick and paid leave benefits.

Policywise, we still have a long way to go towards making sure all working people have the leave benefits they need, but in the meantime, you deserve to know what resources are available to you. Below, we compare who is - and is not - covered by the efforts to provide COVID-19 emergency leave benefits.

**The information provided in this chart is the best available information at this time, but it is subject to change based on additional legislative measures or guidance released by state or federal agencies, and we may need to update the information as things change.*

SOURCES AND ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

The full list of sources used to compile the chart is included below, along with details about how to access benefits:

FAMILIES FIRST CORONAVIRUS RESPONSE BILL (PAID SICK DAYS AND PAID LEAVE PROVISIONS)

(Legislation in effect as of: April 1, 2020. Expires: December 31, 2020. NOTE: The U.S. Department of Labor released temporary rule guidance on April 1, 2020 for interpretation and enforcement of the law.)

How to access benefits: Paid Sick Days and Extended Paid Leave programs are administered through employers. You can request this emergency leave through your employer, and employers will either grant or deny the request based on eligibility requirements.

When requesting paid sick leave or expanded family and medical leave, you are required to provide your employer, either orally or in writing, with certain documentation based on the reasoning for leave. For example, if you request leave to self-quarantine based on the advice of a health care provider, you must provide the name of the health care provider. ## NOTE

Under the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security (CARES) Act, which Congress passed and the President signed into effect on March 27, 2020, additional benefits are available to many workers impacted by COVID-19. In certain circumstances, if you do not qualify for the new emergency paid sick or paid leave benefits under the Families First Act, you may qualify for unemployment insurance benefits. Details about accessing and applying for unemployment insurance, including new programs created under the CARES Act, are included below:

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION BENEFITS MAY BE AVAILABLE TO SOME WORKERS EXCLUDED FROM PAID SICK OR PAID LEAVE BENEFITS

How to access benefits: Unemployment compensation benefits are administered through states' UC systems. Find your state unemployment insurance office here.

You can file a claim in Ohio by:

- Online: File a claim online at <https://unemploymenthelp.ohio.gov/expandedeligibility/> 24 hours/day, 7 days a week. NOTE: The system is experiencing slow processing times due to high claims activity.
- Telephone: File a claim by calling toll-free 1-877-644-6562 or TTY 1-614-387-8408 (EXTENDED CALL CENTER HOURS: Agents are available to assist with PIN resets and take initial applications Monday through Friday 7:00 am - 7:00 pm, Saturday 9:00 am - 5:00 pm, and Sunday 9:00 am - 1:00 pm.)

The Unemployment Compensation fund changes enacted through federal legislation are administered by each state's UC program. The state has started paying the additional $600 a week available to virtually all UC recipients through July. It is working to launch claims processing for the new Pandemic Unemployment Assistance (PUA) program, which will cover many unemployed workers who don't qualify under the regular state program. Though Ohio is lagging behind some other states, this is expected to be ready in mid-May. Until then, individuals can pre-register for the PUA program. The online tool allows you to get in line early and pre-register your account, and then once the claims processing tool is live in mid-May, you can log in and complete your application. You can call the state's dedicated PUA Call Center to ask questions about eligibility for the new program: 833-604-0774.
